REHABILITATION WORK FOR THE TAGBANUAS OF CULION, PALAWAN

To provide a conducive learning environment for Cartwheel's learners and ensure a secure place where families can evacuate in times of calamity, the construction of disaster resilient multi-purpose halls (MPH) in the island communities of Alulad, Cagait and Chindonan has been identified as a priority project by Cartwheel and other development partners working in Culion, led by La Inmacuda Parish, Simbahang Lingkod ng Bayan and Ateneo DReaM Team.

Together with OCB Architects and Solar Solutions, visits were made last May 13, 2014 to the three partner areas to hold community consultations for the design of the MPH to be built in each of these sitios.

One of the homes being rebuilt by Tagbanua families in Sitio Alulad, Culion, where structures were severely damaged.

In response to the immensity of the need from calamities that affected the nation in the year 2013 such as Super Typhoon Yolanda (Internationally known as Haiyan), Cartwheel - fueled by the outpouring of help from its supporters within the country and overseas - mobilised relief and rehabilitation efforts for communities that need it the most, as in the figures below.
